

My Mission

Dear ones, it is my greatest dream since childhood to teach. I love doing readings, but I never fully intended to do it for a living. I had always dreamed of using my gifts as they are truly meant to be used, as an oracle rather than as a psychic machine online. I love reading others, and through my readings, I have helped so many people to find answers, heal, and reshape their lives. I came here to this planet to help people to truly reconnect to the Source, and learn how to be the better aspect of themselves, living a virtuous life transcending the struggles of everyday life with a new perspective. It has helped them to manifest happiness and their dreams. Now, I seek to fulfill my dreams. Around the clock, I work in service to others. I am up all hours texting and talking with people from all over the world in order to motivate them and heal them from burdens and guide them into a saintly path of virtue so that they can finally say goodbye to making mistakes that leave them broken and feeling hopeless. Many have changed their perspective and have turned into better people who are kind, genuine, generous, loving, and true. Troubles that littered their paths, had become opportunities to learn and advance. To rebuild.

I write, I record, I answer questions, and then I do several readings for many clients all over the globe. It is a total path of dedication. I do the best that I can with contests, prizes and fun activities, to give people something to look forward to, and I have had the support of my closest friends, only not on a huge platform. I am trying. I have so many dreams of bringing others together as we all strive and struggle to find others who are like us. With that, I have been seeking monthly sponsorship in order to find a way to live within means, and to travel all over spreading my message to others face to face. I have helped thousands of people find answers and better their quality of life. Many do not publicly support me though. I have been outcasted from spiritual communities online. And, my work has been stolen, reworded and presented as if it belonged to another person. Additionally, sadly my work is only shared within a small tight knit circle. While many mention me by word of mouth and referral, others do not always publicly acknowledge the difference that I have made in their lives. I am grateful for those who have though. With all of my heart. It has been such a struggle for my reach and presence to show its truth because the numbers have been tampered with or others who have copied my path do not want others to know that they came to me at all. So they do not add me on social media. There are also respectfully many who choose not to publicly represent me, for privacy reasons too. In other words, I need help.

I am looking for a number of things. I would like to find an organization that could have me represent them, and my own teachings and vice versa. To co-join in a spiritual collaboration of sorts, who have the same morals, and values .others who can participate online in other communities and share my work. I am also looking for support somehow through donations, so that I can finally live, doing my work for free whilst also working towards a spiritual community in which others can live together. I would love to find some who would not mind organizing events in their areas for me to visit and speak with everyone there. I have some events lined up myself coming up this Summer, but any extra help, is so greatly appreciated. I also want to gather others together, who would not mind speaking in their own work, about what they learned from me, but mentioning that they have learned with me. Donations and assistance can be given anonymously of course. I am looking for some way to reach a certain amount of sponsorship to meet the needs that I have for many projects, and thus I will devote my life to working harder even still to make the huge change that I seek to see in the world through what I know many people can achieve. I know that this world can be a better place through the heavens here on Earth, but it starts with each individual and the change that they make, thus spreading on a worldwide scale. It is my mission to be one out of many who help in making those changes happen. I believe in you, please believe in me enough to help me.
